

From: t0581dh@network.cfc.com (David Hamilton)
Date: Fri, 11 Mar 94 12:24:36 -0500
To: next-icon@gun.com
Subject: Esprit de Core

Eric Litman writes:

>> Anybody have a good-looking apple core?

Well, I thought long and hard on this one, but couldn't recall meeting an apple core I thought was good-looking ... well ... ok, maybe late one night a long long time ago in a singles bar ...

Anyway, these two things, trying desperately to look like apple cores, are, inarguably, no exception to the rule:

Eric didn't specify red, green, Delicious or McIntosh, so there's a red one and a green one here. My bet is he's after a MacIntosh, but gosh knows what one would do with such a thing, except to use it to try and keep dry when one can't get out of the rain.

Actually, the green one reminds me of a pear ... Hmmm.

