Here's one we had to share with the group....

<Beaver.tiff>

We have a fellow at Vanguard Software named Jason Beaver. One day I ran across the "Wired: Tour Across America" web page -- and under the "Cow Chip Throwing capital of the world" (Beaver Falls or Creek or something like that, Oklahoma) section there is a picture of a giant fiberglass beaver holding a cow chip. Unbelievable!!

Jason's email addresses are jason@senco.com, jason@dbkit.com, jason@gbo.com and jason@vanguard.com. Use this image to perk up your /LocalLibrary/Images/people directory -- we've perked up ours. :-) :->

The web reference used to be www.wired.com -- which is now linked to www.hotwired.com. Unfortunately, I don't know where the Beaver source page is, because hotwired asks for a userid/password every time you click on something. Nobody could have enough time or patience to browse the entire hotwired structure.
