

From: Daniel L. Green <dang@dangcube.pencom.com>
Date: Sun, 24 Jul 94 01:45:49 -0500
To: next-icon <next-icon@gun.com>
Subject: Re: Cows anyone?
Reply-To: dang@dangcube.pencom.com

Ethan Straffin <Ethan_Straffin@NeXT.COM> writes:
> I am in desperate need of some cow icons. The more abstract the better > (think of an "international" cow symbol or something you might see on > a "Cattle Xing" road sign, for example) but I'm really not picky. Any > help or pointers would be greatly appreciated!

Well here are some icons plucked from COWS ala the nextinterpreter list:

There may be a cow image or two on "The Fatted Calf" CD, but I didn't see one right off.

Best regards,

-- DanG
-- Daniel L. Green | Electronic Frontier Foundation | NextMail
-- Pencom Software | Member #297 | & MIME Mail
-- dang@pencom.com | for more info: eff@eff.org | gladly accepted!
C++ is the "Gilligan's Island" of languages: all about stranded cast-aways

From: Justin Sowers <jsowers@wsc.com>
Date: Mon, 25 Jul 94 09:16:06 -0400
To: Ethan Straffin <Ethan_Straffin@NeXT.COM>
Subject: Re: Cows anyone?
Cc: next-icon@gun.com

cow.tiff (bovine a la petraglyph)

cow2.tiff, cow.tiff (howling cattle?)

Enjoy!

-Justin.

Justin K. Sowers
Programmer/Analyst
WSC Investment Services
jsowers@wsc.com

"The opinions expressed herein make no sense, and therefore are clearly my own."

