During summer quarter and the between-quarter break, I created a bunch of icons. Now, I'm finally getting around to sharing them with the net. The first large chunk below contains a bunch of icons I made for the standard NeXT directories (Apps, Library, etc). Second, there are some icons for Lotus Presentation Builder and WriteNow that I colorized from the original mono. Finally, there are a couple home directory icons that I drew from scratch. I hope somebody can get some use out of some of these!
