Well, I just received a couple of Animaniacs icons in response to my request. All three Warners, but they were only in black and white. Soooooooo... Out came WetPaint and now they've got a bit more color in their cheeks.

Here are the originals and the 12 bit, properly alphaed versions...

Thanks to Michael Pizolato (Michael_Pizolato@afs.com) for the originals!
Now, anybody got the mice? Pleeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeease....

Well, it looks like I may be nickle-and-diming this list to death for a while. I got tipped off to a GIF file that contained smallish head shots of the many members of the Animaniacs cast. They're Windoze sized icons, though, and the colors aren't always right. So I've taken a couple of them, enlarged them and recolored them with my tool of choice (i.e. the one I can afford), WetPaint.

Gee, what are we gonna to do tonight, Brain?

<BrainC.tiff>

The same thing we do every night, Pinky! Try to iconify the Animaniacs!

That's right, it's Rita and Runt! A friendly net.neighbor has provided me with a few images to work off of, and I've managed to put together these two. I'm slowly building up most of the cast here. I'm hoping to eventually include: Hello Nurse, Slappy, Skippy, Bobby, Pesto, Minerva, Buttons, Mindy, and Chicken Boo (even though he is personally my least favorite Animaniac), since I know I can get source material for these characters. It'll take some time, though, to get these all done. I'll spit out a couple icons at a time as I get them properly touched up.

Humans! What are they good for, anyway?

<RuntC.tiff>

Icons, Rita! Definitely Icons!

Here are two more for everyone interested. Next time... Slappy & Skippy!
