

The exploration of space began in the 1960s. Both women and men have traveled in space. The first human, the first animal, and the first spacecraft in orbit, were all Soviet achievements.

Every day we are discovering different things about space from satellites and astronauts.