

Registration

Snak is shareware which means that you may use and evaluate it for 30 days at no charge. If you decide to keep the program you must pay the $20 registration fee.

After the 30 day evaluation period has ended the program will quit after 30 minutes of use if it is not registered. Registering it will of course remove this limitation.

The quickest method to register is the secure webserver available from my web page at "<http://www.snak.com>". You can also use the Register program that comes in the package to register with Check, Cash, Credit Card and Money Order to the Kagi Shareware payment service.

You can even pay by telephone by calling the Kagi Shareware payment service at +1 (510) 658-5244 to place an order. They charge a $5 fee for telephone orders.

If you like the program, you are encouraged to register, as the show of support and appreciation will allow me to spend even more time working on the program.

After you register you will receive a registration key. This registration key is unique and personal.

It will mean financial damage to me and it will dampen future development efforts if you release it to the public, or allow it to be used by others.

If I find the registration key is being illegally distributed, it will be rejected by future versions of Snak and you will have to re-register.

You are welcome to upload this version of Snak where ever you want, but you must keep it as a package - ie. the program, the Register program, the read me file and this manual. If you want to include it on a CD, please ask me for permission first.
