

Insects

Just had to do it! My mischievous mission was to add a group of safe bugs to the computer in a set of tiles that adhered to the original tile format.

Bamboo became ladybugs on which you have to count the dots on their backs.

Dots became as many ants.

Chacacters became butterflies that are matched by color patterns.

Dragons became red, green and black grasshoppers.

Winds became flies facing the four directions.

Flowers became bug catchers i.e. spider webs.

And finally, seasons became the product of bee activities.

Hope you have fun with these. All you need do to zap the bugs is match the tiles!!!
