

How to Play

Your goal in this game is to keep the game field clean of colored balls that keep multiplying constantly. The game is over if you let the colored balls fill the game field completely.

You can destroy the balls by clicking on them. Clicking on a ball of given color destroys all balls of that color bordering with the black (free) field, and also all balls of the same color adjoining to them, and all balls of the same color adjoining to those, etc.

The balls you select for elimination do not disappear immediately; the process takes some time, though not much. However, while the balls you selected disappear, the area can be taken over by balls of other color.

The growth pattern of the balls is not completely random. Watch the gameflow closely and learn to predict the balls' behavior.
