Security - Files

Mac software based file and folder security products should not be considered to offer protection from experienced Mac users. They will usually defeat casual users.

Encryption is the only secure way of protecting your documents.

File Locker provides simple folder protection. FileGuard and FolderBolt provide better file and folder protection.

UltraSecure and Ultrashield provide a full range of protection and encryption services including multiple level passwords and keydisk access. UltraShield provides commercial grade protection and UltraShield provides industrial strength security.
