Presentation - Assembly

Both these programs will assemble a diverse range of image and sound files into a presentaion. MediaMaker will assemble the elements of a presentation and then print to tape. Producer will assemble a timecode based, multitrack presentation for realtime playback. A new version of Producer, priced over $2,000, with control for many sound and video players will be released later this year. A free upgrade will be available.

Electronic Text

Electronic Text Publishing is to books what multimedia is to television and is coming to your Mac any day now. Electronic Publishing uses either SGML format files with Hypertext readers or printed electronic documents with a document reader.

SGML

Most word processors will have SGML filters next year. SoftQuad is the only SGML editor available for the Mac.

SoftQuad Author/Editor.....	$1,500
-----------------------------	---------

HyperText

Guide was the first Mac hypertext program. Dynatext is crossplatform, expensive and suitable for managing CD based document collections. FrameBuilder creates documents formatted in FrameMaker.

Electronic Documents

These program offer different ways of publishing electronic documents. Each differs in the way fonts are handled and reader distribution policy. Acrobat is Adobe's postscript based solution, using mulitple master fonts and an expensive but powerful reader.

Comon Ground builds fonts for the document and has a lowcost reader. Replicas uses Truetype fonts and has a free reader.
