

Using TrashScan

Using TrashScan is really easy. Just leave it running whenever you want protection!

However, you may not always want to have TrashScan right in the middle of your screen. In that case, just click the green down arrow on the main screen:

his will cause the window to collapse into a tiny window in the lower left-hand corner of your screen, like this:

ust click on that window to restore TrashScan to its former position. Note that TrashScan will automatically restore itself if a scan is detected and you have enabled the "Alert" option under the Settings dialog.

When a scan is detected, it will be appended to the log and to the quick log. The log is the upper window, containing more detailed information, while the quick log contains only suspect incidents.

REMEMBER: information in the log and quick log windows can be extensive. You may need to remember to scroll to see it all. For example, just because the log window says "Everything seems OK" at the top, that doesn't mean that everything is OK now, just that it was OK when TrashScan started up.
