

Privacy Issues

You should know that each time you launch TrashScan, it connects to a remote server and retrieves a small amount of information. No information is transferred to the remote server. This is exactly what is transferred:

- The latest version number of TrashScan.
- Where you can download the latest version of TrashScan.
- An advertisement.

If your current version of TrashScan is found to be out of date, you will be invited to download the latest release. No information about you, other than your IP address, is revealed.