

How does it work?

For everyone familiar with HyperCard, The BeerStack should be really straightforward and it shouldn't create any problems for the rest of you either.

Simply click buttons from the main menu, click buttons from other pages, view text or add text to text fields.

Any information you add to or delete from The BeerStack is automatically saved so it will be there the next time you use it. If you found The BeerStack on a CD-ROM you must copy the files to your harddrive in order for this to work.

On the main menu you also have a button called "About the buttons..." that you can click for more specific info on what is hidden behind the buttons. Some of the buttons are linked to other applications and it's up to you to choose what applications you want to link to. There are some suggestions in The BeerStack.
