

PhoneCode 1.31

Program License Agreement -- Single User License
© Copyright 1992 dB Software -- All Rights Reserved

License -- This program and software may be copied for backup purposes only. The backup copies of the software may be made provided they are not used, transferred or distributed by anyone outside of the home, organization, business or company of the purchaser of the license. The software may be installed on more than one machine owned by the purchaser provided that no more than one copy of the program is in use at any given time. The software and license may be transferred to another party only if the other party agrees to accept the terms of the license. If you transfer the license, you must transfer all copies whether in printable or machine readable form to the same party, or destroy any copies not transferred. If you transfer possession of any copy or modification of the software to another party not covered through the license, your license is automatically terminated.

Warranties -- There are no expressed or implied guarantees made regarding the use or misuse of this program. The user assumes the all risk of any incidental or consequential damages (including service or repair). In no event will the author be liable for any damages whatsoever arising out of the use or the inability to use this product. If the program disks should fail through normal use within a 90-Day period starting from date of order, replacement disk(s) will be sent upon receipt of the faulty disks. After the 90-Day period, replacement disks can be ordered at the cost of $3.00 per disk.

Shareware Version -- A limited license is granted to copy and distribute the shareware version of PhoneCode for the evaluation use of others, as long as it is distributed without modification, complete with all files. No fee, charge or other compensation may be requested with these exceptions: Operators of electronic bulletin board systems may make PhoneCode available for downloading, so long as there is no specific charge for the download of PhoneCode. Vendors of user-supported or shareware software may distribute PhoneCode, so long as any duplication and handling fees do not exceed eight dollars, and notice is clearly given that such fees do not grant the evaluator a license to use PhoneCode beyond the evaluation period. The registered version of PhoneCode may not be freely distributed.

Acceptance -- Installation and/or use of this program constitutes acceptance of this license agreement. You may terminate this agreement within 30-days by returning the license and/or disks purchased, and your money will be refunded.

Windows and Visual Basic are both trademarks of the Microsoft Corporation.