"Taichi Explains it all!"

A chibi gag comic

That's right!
I got all the answers!

In the Digimon fandom, a system of 'name blurbs' is used to indicate which character is seme and which is uke in the relationship. The first part of the seme's name is combined with the last part of the uke's name.

Taichi

"Taito" means that I'm the seme. Most peeps into Digimon yaoi think that's the way it should be!

"Yamachi" means that I'm the seme. For some reason, not as many people accept Yamachi, and we've seen some pretty hot discussions about the subject on mailing lists.

Yamato

Jus' read the comic, and I'll tell you how it is! ➡

Geesh....

Oi, Taichi!
C'mere a minute...

Yeah?

What's your opinion
on this silly
Taito vs. Yamachi debate?

Well, obviously it's gotta be Taito! I'm on top! Seme all the way!
Booyah!

Errr....

That's right! And if Tai's not the seme, then it's usually me!

And don't forget the doujinshi! See these? They're all Taito! They all feature me being aggressive and dominant and totally seme!

And don't forget about how I.... uhm, Yamato? Why are you lookin at me like that?

'seethe'

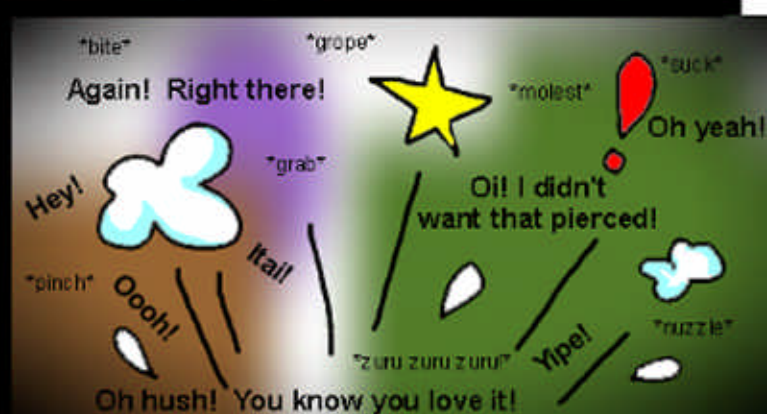

Explain how you can be seme when I'm the one holding the whip.

Eh heh...

"ahem!" Okay... see... When I said 'seme', what I really meant was....

Actually, I don't really care who's on top... just as long as we get to snog....

O*wa*ri!
