

Needles are in bundles along the twig and are held together by a fascicle.

A papery sheath surrounds the base of the needles. Some species of pine have deciduous sheaths.

Needles persist 2 or 3 years.