

Genus Prunus

There are 3 common species of Prunus native to Indiana. When young, they have smooth bark with numerous light-colored horizontal lenticels. Fruit of the Prunus is fleshy and relished by birds.