

Genus Juglans

Juglans is represented by 2 native species in Indiana. They both have large leaf scars that give the impression of a face. Both produce edible nuts that have corrugated ridges on the outside of the shell.