

By far the best way to reach us with comments or questions is by using electronic mail, which allows concise, cheap and efficient communication. We can be contacted from any America Online, CompuServe, or Internet mail account. If none of these seem to fit, ask your network administrator or online service if you have access to Internet; it's possible that you do and you don't even know it! Below are the addresses to use; be sure to type them exactly as they appear here:

America Online: L Products
CompuServe: >INTERNET:LProducts@aol.com
Internet: LProducts@aol.com

If you don't have a suitable electronic mail account, or you wish to send us something tangible (like money, or the Chevy engine block), you'll want to mail it to this address:

Robert L Mathews
PO Box 21271
Oakland, CA 94620-1271 USA

You can also try to reach us by telephone at (510) 832-5000; however, we can't guarantee that anyone will be available to answer the phone — we recommend using mail (electronic or otherwise) instead.
