Green Light

Free System Resources are equal to, or greater than, 60%.
This is ideally where you would want your Free System Resources to be.

Yellow Light

Free System Resources are between 30 and 60%.
This is a caution area.

Red Light

Free System Resources are less than, 30%.
This is definitely where you don't want your Free System Resources to be.   You need to close an application or two so that you do not crash your system.
