Two lucky winners will each receive a Visioneer PaperPort Vx – a fax machine, photocopier and scanner all in one small unit. And thirty runners-up will win a useful EuroPress Software package

How to win

Simply answer these questions, and complete the tie-breaker which follows.

1. How many dots per inch does the Paperport Vx scan?
2. Which software converts a scan into text?
3. How many test questions are there on the Official Driving Instructor?

Tie-breaker

I've won a Visioneer PaperPort Vx! Now I can...

This month, WhatPC? has a pair of Visioneer PaperPort scanners to give away to two lucky winners. 30 runners-up will receive a top-selling package from EuroPress Software – either Mini Office Home Finance, Mini Office Tax '96, or Official Driving Instructor.

First prize

Most offices have a fax machine, photocopier and scanner, but they tend to be in separate boxes, each the size of a small suitcase. The PaperPort Vx offers all of these features in a single case roughly the size of a rolling pin.

Actually, the hardware is simply a compact scanner – it's the accompanying software that really makes the PaperPort Vx stand out. The 400 dots-per-inch greyscale scanner connects to a PC's serial port and once the software is installed, it's ready to use. Scanning is a doddle – just insert a page into the scanner's slot and seconds later an image appears on screen. Scanned images can be stored in folders, or dragged onto an application icon at the bottom of the PaperPort software's

'desktop'. Drag a scan to the fax icon and it's faxed via an attached fax modem; drag it to the word processor and the text is converted using OCR software and loaded as a new file for editing. Alternatively, a document can be 'printed' from any application to the PaperPort desktop and stored as an image.

Runners-up

Up to 30 runners-up will each receive one of three top products from EuroPress.

The Official Driving Instructor includes video sequences, an electronic version of The Highway Code, and a bank of 630 questions to give learner drivers a taste of what to expect in the new written test. Mini Office Tax '96 helps you fill in your tax returns and avoid overpayments, guiding you through the forms and explaining the jargon of the Inland Revenue. With self-assessment just around the corner, this could prove a valuable package. Mini Office Home Finance is a flexible financial management package that can help with everything from balancing your bank account to budgeting, cashflow, and full VAT accounting.
