

PILFER - this Wild Nine is a good guy, simply because he knows he doesn't want to be a bad guy

-Pilfer is the resident psychopath, and all around criminal
-Need a lock picked? How about a ship jumpstarted? Need that essential Break and Enter? Then Pilfer is your man...

-Pilfer comes from a penal colony that was destroyed by Domination

-he has lots of jerky movements, facial twitches and speech stutters (in a politically correct manner)

-Pilfer is permanently attached at the knees to a 3-ton titanium ball by an indestructible cable, which he desperately tries to break with every new technology the Nines encounter

-Pilfer has his Nine displayed on two locations; one is a huge red 9 splattered on his prison ball, and the other, in true psychotic form, is carved into his forehead

-Pilfer is bad.....and he wants everyone to know it, so he has it written on his yellow straightjacket with big red letters

-Pilfer is always in a straightjacket and has a huge padlock clasping it. In order to escape from it, he has to ask another Nine to undo it.

-the only problem is that when he is released (for however short a time) 20 things mysteriously disappear - including B'Angus!

-Pilfer is a master pickpocket, and has also trained himself to use his feet to be as agile as his hands

-Pilfer is motivated by greed (think Daffy Fuck in Ali Baba's Gold-Filled cave) and self-interest

-while in prison, as in most prison movies, Pilfer befriended a "mouse" of sorts. His name is Dr. Rasponovich ....

Dr. Rasponovich - Dr. Rasponovich is a 4" high reptilian creature that Pilfer found and befriended in the Ssissaugan Maximum Security Prison

-despite his small stature, Dr. Rasponovich is capable of lifting the 3 ton ball of Pilfer and with enough mustered strength, is able to carry it behind his best friend Pilfer

-while Dr. Rasponovich is not out to impress Pilfer, there is definitely an admiration between the two of them

-we're supposed to feel sorry for Dr. Rasponovich who hold himself like a tired 90-year-old man, shuffling along, who occasionally gets a chuckle out of something happening to Pilfer
