

GOODS AND SERVICES TAX CREDIT APPLICATION FORM

Area A to Area C — descriptive text

Area A - How to Apply

- Determine if you should apply (see Area F below)
- Complete Areas D and E below. Rev Canada will use this information and your tax return to calculate your credit.
- Send this form with your income tax return. (This form must be completed each year to qualify for the credit.)

Area B - Who Can Apply

- Basic qualifications are calculated in Area F below.
- If you are married or residing with an "other supporting person", you must decide which one of you will apply. Whoever applies will receive the credit for the family.

Area D — Family Information

Err:508

- |                                                                                                                                   |     | Married | Widow(er) | Divorced | Separated | Single  |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|---------|-----------|----------|-----------|---------|
| 1. What was your marital status at the end of 1991?:(if married only one spouse may claim)                                    | 190 | ###     |           |          |           |         |
| 2. Did you reside with an "other supporting person" at the end of 1991?                                                           | 191 | ###     |           |          |           |         |
| 3. How many "qualified children" did you have at the end of 1991?                                                                 | 192 |         |           |          |           | Err:511 |
| 4. Are you eligible for an "equivalent-to-married" credit for one of your children? This child is to be included at line 3 above. | 193 | ###     |           |          |           |         |
| 5. If someone is an "other supporting person" of your "qualified children", what is that person's social insurance number?        | 194 |         |           |          |           | Err:520 |

Area E — Income information

- |                                                                                                                                                                           |     |   |                |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|---|----------------|
| What is your net income?                                                                                                                                                  | 6   |   | Err:520        |
| What is your spouse's net income?                                                                                                                                         | 195 | 7 | Err:508        |
| What is your other supporting person's net income plus their net federal supplements, social assistance payments and workers' compensation payments received during 1991? | 196 | 8 | Err:508        |
| What is the amount of federal supplements, social assistance payments and workers' compensation payments received by you and your spouse during 1991?                     | 197 | 9 | Err:508        |
| Income for Goods and Services Tax Credit                                                                                                                           | 10  |   | Err:508 |

Area F — Income ranges

Should you apply?

Err:511

- Note: Income ranges are approximate and serve only as a guideline to help you decide if you should apply. RevCanada will advise you if you do not qualify to receive a credit.

:redit.
credit)