Hyper•USER™, a HyperCard® Resource, has been growing rapidly since our January introduction. The response from developers and users has been quite astounding!

We are currently shipping a pre-publication release of our newsletter! Our final production release will coincide with our advertising in the April 1988 edition of MacUser® magazine.

To create the BEST, HyperCard® resource for you, we would like to offer our Writer Guidelines to anyone interested.

We are looking for articles, reviews, tutorials, tips, tricks, wish lists, and anything else you've wanted to shout about regarding HyperCard®.

Our Writer Guidelines are simple:

1. Write yourself to weakness!

Please use MacWrite® or Word® in any version.

2. DO NOT include graphics in your text (if graphics are necessary please include the appropriate Paint files). Note Paint files in your text with the following convention: >>>File Name <<<.

3. Send all your files on a 800K disk to:

Editor

4. We will RETURN your disk with the our most recent Monthly Disk Library for your effort and cooperation. We promise nothing and give you stacks in return!

5. We reserve the right to condense, copy edit, and format your contribution to conform to the standards of Hyper•USER™. We assume no liability for you contribution in terms of copyright violation, since we understand that the work that you contribute is your own!
