365 Days of Classic Quotes provides some of the best inspirational, thought-provoking, and humorous quotes of all time. Each day you'll be presented with gems by such noteworthy quotemasters as Ben Franklin, Oscar Wilde, J.F.K., Albert Einstein and Mark Twain, commenting on adversity, perseverance, love, marriage, humor, money and much, much more. Each quote can be printed in an attractive manner using any font, or used in a screen saver to be displayed at random intervals throughout the day. The package also includes 200+ bonus quotes that can be viewed at any time throughout the year.

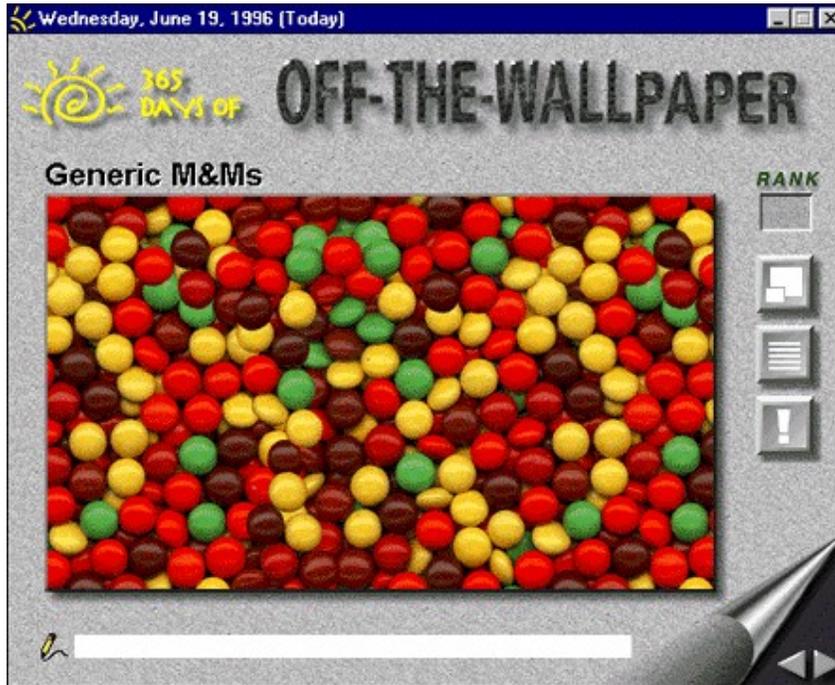

365 Days of Great Words to Know

365 Days of Great Words To Know offers a new “power word” each day, along with an audio pronunciation, a sample sentence, and a friendly, fun-to-take quiz. By presenting a single word each day, and repeating that word through quizzes and screen savers, this package offers one of the most effective approaches to improving one’s vocabulary. Two screen savers enable you to see today’s word on a scrolling marquee or see all the words prior to today in a colorful slide show.

The screenshot shows a window titled "Monday, November 13, 1995 (Today)". The main title is "365 DAYS OF Great Words To Know" with a sun icon. The word "antecedent" is displayed with a checkmark icon. Below it, the "Definition" section includes the word class "(noun)" and the pronunciation "'an-tih-SEE-dent'". The definition text reads: "Something that went before another in time or sequence, often with consequential effects. An antecedent might also serve as a model or stimulus for later developments." The "Usage" section contains a sample sentence: "Joe tells everyone that his work ethic, drive, and technical training were the antecedents of his starting his own software company," said Susan to her pedicurist. "But getting fired last month didn't hurt, either." On the right side, there are four icons: a speech bubble, "A+", a list icon, and an exclamation mark. At the bottom left, there is a small logo and a white input field. At the bottom right, there are blue navigation arrows.
