

Important Information:

The Programs on this disc are set up for full PRE-VIEWING at this point. Most of these programs will work directly from the CD Rom Disc.

Important Note: Because some of these programs allow you (the end-user) to edit, update, add your own information, collect scores, etc. THEY WILL GIVE YOU AN ERROR MESSAGE or failure if you try to write or save any information or files (as you can't write to a CD ROM disc). Many programs automatically try to write information when existing, so you may not even have to try to save anything to get the error message. This is normal and NOT a problem. We have left these type of programs on the CD in Pre-view mode even though there is an error message, simply so you can get a taste of the program without installing anything you absolutely don't have to on your hard disk drive.

If you want to use these programs on a regular basis, adding your own information (not just for reference, as most will run perfectly from the CD for reference or in a pre-view only mode) you will need to INSTALL THEM to your hard disk drive.

We have created a separate directory on the CD ROM disk for the programs which require installation (in some cases, each program). We try to keep the names as close to the actual program name as possible. For instance, COOKING would be the directory name containing the files for "Cooking Companion," and UGIN would be a logical place for "Ultimate Gin Rummy."

From either File Manager (if you are using Windows v3.1x) or from Explorer (for Windows 95 users) create a directory on your hard disk drive (usually C:) and copy the files from the directory on the CD ROM Disc to a directory on your hard disk. From Windows (v3.1x or 95) the process should be very easy and literally "drop and drag." This process is completely automated in most programs, and is available from the opening menu in most cases.

If there are any questions, please consult your WINDOWS manual. Technical support is available for end-users that have sent in their registration card, registering their use of the product. Please be sure to send or fax in your registration card for any software products so you can receive technical support and update bulletins.

Within the next few months we hope to have an Internet Web Site, which will offer solutions to the most common problems (program specific) in a detailed step-by-step fashion, and will be an easy way for end users to get updates and patches to programs. Registered users wanting this service will have a higher access level than non-registered users, and will get priority service. Just another way we can better serve you, our valued customer.

Thank You for your purchase.
