

The indicator on the play bar that shows the current position in the movie.

The slider's position represents a point in time; it can stop anywhere along the movie's time line. The slider does not move in whole-frame increments (except when it is following the movie as you click the step buttons).