The Save dialog box contains two options for saving:

• Save normally
• Make movie self-contained

Both methods result in the same movie when played, but the size and contents of the two types of files on disk are different.