Since all parts of the movie are stored in the file, other movies from which you copied segments no longer need to be accessible when this movie is played.

A self-contained movie has no dependencies.