

The software license agreement describes the conditions under which you can use the software. Use the pop-up menu to select a language, if necessary, then read the license agreement.

Click Continue to proceed with the installation. You will be asked to signify your agreement with the terms of the license. You must agree in order to install the software.