How to use the program ?

When starting the program you automatically come in the study mode. In this mode you can learn all names, capitals and locations of all provinces by clicking either on the name of the province in the listbox or at the province itself at the map.

At the status line, below the map, the capital of the province is named.

To study the 40 cities click on the 'cities'-button to get the names of the cities listed, or click on the small yellow circle indicating the location of the city.

You can study this way as long as you like. When you want to test your knowledge simply click at the 'test'-button.. You can choose one of the following options:

- find the names of cities chosen by the computer
- find the names of states chosen by the computer
- name capital by statename
- find the matching flag of each state

You can end a test half way by clicking at the 'stop'-button or End.

At the end of a test you are shown your final score and asked for your name. These will be stored on disk and can be shown by clicking on 'testresults'.

About the author

This program is made by Eric J. van Dorp ,the owner of Van Dorp Educatieve Programmatuur. He lives in The Netherlands. Van Dorp Educatieve Programmatuur has made a range of educational software in the Dutch language, partly published by A.W. Bruna informatica. Some programs are translated to English or written in English and spread as shareware. Among these programs are Geography USA, Multiple Choice and World Distance, both available in the Compuserve Windows shareware forum (educational/reference library). See the introduction page to find out how to register this program.
