

About Binary Calculator

This simple calculator was written for programmers. The function controls are modeled after the C syntax and the RPN logic is modeled after Hewlett Packard calculators.

Binary Calculator uses the Appearance Manager (if available) so it looks a little different under MacOS 8 than it does under System 7. This help dialog is only available ☐ when the Appearance Manager is present.