If your question is urgent and more complex

Telephone Microsoft Technical Support—Work with a support engineer to solve your issue through the following options.

Standard No-Charge Support —for help during business hours—If you acquired this product as a stand-alone retail product, you are eligible for 90 days of support at no charge beginning with the first time you speak with a support engineer. You can receive no-charge support via e-mail (explained later) or via telephone by calling one of the following numbers, available Monday —Friday, excluding holidays.

In the U.S.: (425) 635-7040

6:00 A.M. - 6:00 P.M. Pacific time

In Canada: (905) 568-4494

8:00 A.M. - 8:00 P.M. eastern time

If your Microsoft product was preinstalled or shipped with your personal computer, you are not eligible for Standard No-Charge Support from Microsoft and must contact your computer manufacturer for support. For phone numbers, please refer to the documentation that came with your computer.

Pay-Per-Incident Support—for help after hours or to supplement Standard Support—If you need help after hours, or if you have used up or are not eligible for Standard No-Charge Support, you can purchase Pay-Per-Incident Support. Support fees for the (800)# calls will be billed to your VISA, MasterCard, or American Express card. Support fees for the (900)# calls will appear on your telephone bill.

In the U.S.: (800) 936-5700 or (900) 555-2000

Cost: $35 US per incident

24 hours a day, seven days a week,
including holidays

In Canada: (800) 668-7975

Cost: $45 CDN plus tax per incident

8:00 A.M.—8:00 P.M. eastern time,
excluding holidays

Microsoft technical support worldwide

If you are outside the United States and have a question about your Microsoft product, first:

- Check the Getting Started book included with your product.
- Check Help in the product.
- Check the Readme files that come with your product disks. These files provide general information that became available after the books in the product package were published.
- Go to Support Online from Microsoft Technical Support at <http://support.microsoft.com/support>

If you cannot find a solution, you can receive information on how to obtain product support by contacting the Microsoft subsidiary office that serves your country.

Calling a Microsoft subsidiary office

When you call your local Microsoft subsidiary, you should be at your computer and have the appropriate product documentation at hand. Be prepared to provide the following information:

- The version of the Microsoft product you use.
- The type of hardware you use, including network hardware, if applicable.
- The operating system you use.
- The exact wording of any messages that appeared on your screen.
- A description of what happened and what you were doing when the problem occurred.
- A description of how you tried to solve the problem.

Note Phone number for Microsoft Subsidiaries are subject to change. For the most recent listing, please see the options and phone number section on the Support Online web site at <http://support.microsoft.com/support>. If there is no Microsoft subsidiary office in your country, please contact the establishment from which you obtained your Microsoft product.

To locate information on a subsidiary office, click on the letter of the country and choose from the dialog box.
