color is determined by wrapping around and starting at the top of the color scale.