

of a bitmap cast member once it has been used as a foreground or background image during onion skinning. When creating images using onion skinning, all the registration points will automatically be aligned.