

Japan's climate is diverse. However, most of Japan lies in temperate zones, resulting in six clear seasonal changes.

As November arrives, Kogarashi, or "winds that wither trees," signal the arrival of winter. Through February, snow falls in Hokkaido and other cold regions along the Sea of Japan .