

Claris Demo Instructions (MacWrite II, MacDraw II, and FileMaker II) Self-Running Demo

Introduction: The following is a self-running demo of MacWrite II, MacDraw II and FileMaker II. The demo is in living Mac II color and will take up 2.4 MBs of hard drive space. The demo is organized by product - MacWrite II, MacDraw II, FileMaker II - and will cycle endlessly until someone does a command-period on it. The following are instructions as to how to install the self-running demo, but first the requirements...

Requirements: In order to include a reasonable number of screen shots and to have color, the demo requires the following:

- ☐ A Macintosh II family computer;
- ☐ System 6.0.2/Finder 6.1 or higher;
- ☐ 2 MBs minimum internal memory (RAM);
- ☐ A hard disk with 2.4 MBs of free space; and,
- ☐ A monitor with 256 colors or gray scales.
(4 MBs RAM and a 13" color monitor recommended).

Instructions: After finding a system that meets the requirements, you will have to:

- 1) Create a folder on the hard disk labeled "Claris Demo."
- 2) Copy the contents of all three disks into the "Claris Demo" folder.
- 3) After which, to make the Demo easier and more user friendly to start, you might want to hide all of the files within the "Claris Demo" folder with the exception of the "Double Click to Start Demo" application. (See example).

Instructions: You can do this by placing the "Double Click to Start Demo" application in the upper left hand corner and then re-sizing the "Claris Demo" folder window around it like the example. This is not an important step, but only serves to help clarify which application is needed to start the Demo.

Usage:

To Start Demo:

Double Click the file labeled "Double Click to Start Demo."

To Quit Demo:

Press command-period to stop demo.
