

Mail Checker

Written by Alon Altman (c)1997

Version 1.5

Overview

Mail checker is a tool that automatically checks your E-Mail for you. All you have to do is set it up with your POP server settings once and then Mail Checker will check your E-Mail automatically and tell you when you get new mail.

Advantages

- ☐ Pops up while you work with optional sound!
- ☐ Small and simple - You don't have to start your E-Mail application!
- ☐ Quick and easy to use!
- ☐ No installation needed!

Changes

☐ Version 1.5

- New and improved user interface
- Does not notify about the same mail twice.
- Display now shows number of messages on server.
- Fixed a bug with message display on some systems

☐ Version 1.2

- Added option to continue checking mail after mail was found
- Added display of number of messages waiting
- New error-reporting routines
- New option for bug reporting and comments
- Better upgrade management

☐ Version 1.1

- Fixed several bugs.
- Added the display of the time of the next check .
- Automatic detection of upgrades.

First Use

- ☐ Configure your POP Server, username and password (copy them from your mail program).
- ☐ Click "Check Now" to verify your settings.
- ☐ Make sure "Notify on Mail" is checked.
- ☐ Set the time interval to any value from one minute to an hour and click "Enable".
- ☐ Mail Checker is now operational.

The next time you start Mail Checker, it will work automatically. No need to reconfigure.

Options

- ☐ If you want mail to be checked, but not to be told when you have E-mail (you can still see by putting your mouse over the icon in the system tray), uncheck the "Notify on Mail" box.

- To hear a sound when new mail arrives, check the "Sound" box. Use the Sounds section of the Windows control panel to change the sound file played.
- Normally, Mail Checker notifies you when an error occurs with the mail server and then does not try again. If you don't want to be told when an error occurs, uncheck the "Notify on Error" box.
