

N*ABLE Technologies, Inc., is committed to providing platform independent hardware (silicon based) solutions for secure electronic data transactions. N*ABLE has a team of highly qualified individuals with vast experience and knowledge and in Personal Computer system architecture, system integration, interface technology, and compatibility. Additionally, product development activities with the NSA and PCMCIA organizations provide unique understanding of security applications environment.

By leveraging its technical strengths in both security and PC architecture, as well as its in-depth knowledge and active role in the newly emerging Secured Electronic Transactions (SET) standard, N*ABLE Technologies, Inc. is currently focused on the development of secured host silicon for electronic commerce and intranet security.

N*ABLE Technologies, Inc., is a privately owned company headquartered in Danvers, Massachusetts with its Technology Center located in Mountain View, California.

www.nabletech.com

N*ABLE Technologies, Inc.
99 Rosewood Drive,
Danvers MA 01923
Phone: 508-762-6644