Company Background:

Deloitte & Touche Consulting Group is a premiere global consulting firm offering clients a full suite of services in such industries as financial services, manufacturing, health care and telecommunications. Together with its parent company Deloitte & Touche LLP, clients have access to over 56,000 professionals worldwide.

Presentation Overview:

Businesses traditionally rely on third parties for transactions, and these third parties are notoriously difficult - if not impossible - to replace with technology. As businesses move onto the Net, the need for trusted third parties grows. Who should they be? What roles should they attempt to fill? And who's doing it now? Our panel is sure to have a few opinions on the matter.
