

Limitations

HTML.edit is not able to contain more than ~30K (29,996 characters) in a field. Documents can be larger than 30K when including the Header and Footer areas (and will export the complete contents of Header, Body and Footer), but imported documents will be truncated to 30K. If a future version of HyperCard allows for unlimited field lengths, I won't be the only one to breathe a sigh of relief.

There is a file size indicator at the top right of the editor document window which displays the number of characters in the Header, Body and Footer sections. This indicator is updated on opening the document window, exiting the Header, Body or Footer areas, or clicking directly on the indicator text. It is in the format "Hheader size:Bbody size:Ffooter size".

Back to Preferences, on to Credits, or return to Contents.