

SelfControl is Shareware. That means that only the file "SelfControl.sit" and its unlicensed decompressed components may be freely distributed. Distribution may only commence under the condition, that all components are distributed together and unchanged. Every user may decompress and use the file as long as he or she likes. Distribution of only parts of this package or of its licensed version is not allowed.

After decompression of the file "SelfControl.sit" the application is limited to a total of 25 entries, which should allow enough room for testing the software. Besides, creation of new files is not possible with this version. Instead, an empty file is installed along with the unlicensed version of SelfControl upon decompression.

Once registered (see chapter "Registration") SelfControl will be usable to its full extent.
