

Processor Utilization

In the upper right hand corner of the Signal Window, you will see the amount of processor time required for the current mode, in ticks (1/60 of a second), and as a percent of available time. The smaller the number, the better.