

Focus applications

This check box lets you turn application focusing on and off. If application focusing is on, Sloop will switch applications when the cursor moves over a window not belonging to the current application. If application focusing is off, Sloop will never switch between applications.

For more specific control over application switching, leave this checkbox on and use the Application preferences dialog box to exclude particular applications from being switched in or out.