

How to make this a full version

The version of LinksWare you have is initially a runtime and demonstration version. It will read all linksets created by the full version, and is therefore freely distributable. Since this is both a runtime and a demonstration version, it will allow the creation links to no more than four files so that you can see how the program functions. You cannot save standalone nor formatted documents with the demo version. Other features may be crippled as well, but the demo/runtime version will function properly for all link retrieval.

You can call 1 (800) 879-LINK (5465) and receive a registration number that will immediately convert this version into the full application, capable all the features mentioned in this manual for a fee of $49.00. We do not accept credit cards, but do accept personal checks. Please make your check to: Tracy Valleau.

$49 is $140.00 off the suggested price of $189.00. We have decided to fully join the electronic revolution, and avoid cutting down trees in the process. By distributing and advertising only thru electronic media, we can substantially reduce our costs, and hence yours.

Now you can have a real multimedia program for $49!

To perform the registration...

First make a copy of the program! Never register the original. (You can of course download another copy, or retrieve it off the CD-ROM again...)

Now, run the program.

- 1) Holding down the option key, and continuing to hold it down, select "About LinksWare..." from the Apple menu.
- 2) You will be presented with a warning similar to the one above. Click on the OK button.
- 3) In the next box, type in the number your received by calling 1 (800) 879-LINK (5465). Be sure to type it in exactly as it was read to you.

If the registration was not successful, the program will "beep" and exit the registration process.

- 4) If it was successful, you see a note that you must quit the program in order for your registration to take effect. Click on the OK button, and then immediately quit the program.

- 5) Now relaunch your new fully working copy of LinksWare.

Please remember that you now have a full working application, which you must not distribute!

To distribute the program, it MUST be a run-time / demo version.

If you have lost the original demo, you can de-register your working copy. Here's how:

- 1) Remember to make a copy first!

Then, to convert a full version back to a demo:

- 2) Holding down the option key and the shift key at the same time, and continuing to hold them down, select "About LinksWare..." from the Apple menu.

3) Go through the same process described above, but enter a Zero (0) for the registration number. When you have completed the process, quit the program immediately. This copy will now have reverted to a demo/run-time version that you may freely distribute.

4) I suggest that you include this documentation when you distribute the program, for the benefit of new users.
