

AMUG announces a new series of classes:

Getting to know your Mac

Instructor:	Dorman Bullard (telephone: days at 379-6168)
When:	The first session starts Saturday, May 5, 1990, to be followed by two, or three others (May 16, Jun 2, and possibly Jun 16). All will be on Saturday mornings.
Time:	All classes will be from 9:00-12:00 AM.
Where:	At the Pyle Recreation Center in Tempe, on Southern at Rural (on the south side of the street next to the library.
Cost:	Free for AMUG members.
Equipment:	It is not required that you bring a Macintosh to this initial session. However you might find a use for it if you do. We would like to have at least a couple Macs at each session. I would like a couple volunteers to bring a Mac. Those willing, please give me a call (days at 379-6168). Announcements will be made at each session as to needs for the next session. However , you should always bring several initialized disks to all meetings.

Subject: These classes will be targeted toward those that are new to the Macintosh. The initial session will talk about the Macintosh operating system, what System versions you should be using and how to obtain and install System files. All those strange files in your System folder will be discussed. We will talk a bit about the upcoming new System 7 expected in late spring or early summer. Memory use and system problem solving will be stressed. Subsequent sessions will deal with how to get more from your Mac and will include hints and tips for improving efficiency, including use and maintenance of hard disk drives, and the discussion and demonstration of various utilities. There will be a tutorial on Fonts and Printing, HyperCard, and an introduction to graphics. And.....you name it. We will find out at the first meeting what topics are of interest.
