SOFTWARE CHANGES

System 7 users will occasionally find some odd character breaks displayed, particularly if you use the Truetype fonts Times and Helvetica that are included with Apple's System software.

SYMPTOM:
Bold words have excessive intercharacter spacing and sometimes plain and/or bold words are truncated (cut off). This is most obvious on printed forms.

SOLUTION:

1.   We recommend you remove these TrueType fonts from your System file (Fonts folder for System 7.1) and use Adobe's Times and Helvetica fonts to minimize character displacement. Adobe Times and Adobe Helvetica are included with Adobe's Plus Pack™ or Basics™, which you probably already own.
