Hyper-Cooking 1.0
UNREGRESTERED

Notice:
Hyper-Cooking is Copyrighted ©1995 by Owen Prater.
All Rights Reserved.
You may distribute the program freely providing that the original HyperCard document and this read me and any other documentation or files that came with it is included.
You may NOT edit or modify the Hyper-Cooking program.

Hyper-Cooking is a recipe storing program and requires HyperCard version 2.2 or later and a Mac with a 13in. or larger monitor.

Brief Summery: Hyper-Cooking let you store your recipes and sort your recipes and it even lets you print your recipes. It is very simple to use. To view your recipes just click on view recipes. To go to the Index just click on the index button. It's that simple! Online help is on the Index page. Have fun and happy cooking!

Help...

Title Page
This is the page that is showing when you open HyperCooking. Clicking on the button Index brings you here while clicking the button Show Recipies brings you to the recipies. The button Backup will let you make a backup of this stack.

Index Card
This card is the index. You push the button "Build New List" to make a new index list. To jump to a different recipe just click on the recipe's name and you will go to that recipe. Help brings up this field.   Click on me to get rid of this help field.

Recipe Cards
Recipe card are the cards that the recipes are stored on. Use the arrow keys or the buttons to go to the next or prevous recipe. Hold down option to extra fast and command to go triple fast! Most of the buttons are self explantory. 'Fix errors' let you change the title and other locked fields. The button labeled "Lock Recipes" or "Unlock Recipes" locks/unlocks the recipes so you can/can't edit them.

Printing
Print by pressing print on the recipe cards. Follow on-screen insructions.
For the people who can print HyperCooking has many printing features. You can print a recipe or make a list of recipies.

Version Info
Version 0.2ß Original release
Version 1.0 Changed to HyperCard version 2.2; Faster Index; Many misc fixes and changes.

Version 1.1   Add Import/Export; misc changes
Version 1.1.1Fixed Bug in Import

To register (and to get a unlocked version and to be able to store more than 15 recipes) please send $7.50 or what you think is appropriate. If you wish to contact me (for registration, questions, bug reports, or recipes for future versions) please write to me at:

Hyper-Cooking
c/o Owen Prater
442 Zuni Dr.
Del Mar CA, 92014-2446

or e-mail me at   roper@cts.com