

Apple Menu.

Under this menu you will find the 'About Graphplot' command which displays a dialog box giving information about this application, including how to contact the author.

If you are running Graphplot under System 6, this menu also contains the 'Graphplot Help' command which displays this help system.

The remaining items are the items in the Apple Menu Items folder (System 7 or later) or a list of currently installed Desk Accessories (System 6). Refer to the documentation that was supplied with your Macintosh for more information about these items.
